LOCAL HIGH SCHOOLS SEND MANY GRADS TO SWELL ENROLLMENT

Poly High of San Francisco and Oakland Tech Hold Lead

Although Tuesday marks the closing day for registrations at the College, already practically all of the old students have returned as well as a large number of new students.

In the past the majority of the freshmen have registered from towns and high schools in or around the Bay cities. However, this year the new students seem to be a more scattered lot, some coming from as far north as Alaska and others as far east as Utah.

Cities Represented

Cities represented by registrants of the College are many, although some number San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Sacramento, Los Angeles, Burlingame, San Mateo, Hanford, Spokane and San Leandro.

The following high schools have students registered at Saint Mary's: Lowell, Polytechnic and Sacred Heart College High School in San Francisco; Oakland, Piedmont, Fremont and Oakland Technical in Oakland; Richmond High in Richmond, Burlingame High School, Skagway High in Alaska, Spokane High in Spokane, Washington, Belmont High School in Los Angeles, and Tooele High School in Tooele, Utah.

Transfer Students

Transfer students this semester to Saint Mary's are from the University of California, Los Angeles Junior College, and Oregon State College in Oregon.

Complete numbers and statistics upon registration have not as yet been compiled by the Office of the Recoder. This will be done immediately upon the conclusion of registrations.

Many Hear Special Christmas Music Here

Traditional music of the Catholic Church marked the celebration of the Christmas midnight Mass at Saint Mary's College in the beautiful campus chapel.

The "Missa in Three Parts" by Antonio Lotti, who flourished in the eighteenth century, was sung for the first time on the Pacific Coast by the Brothers' choir, under the direction of the Rev. John Ribeyron, founder of the San Francisco Cantoria. Lotti is considered as one of the founders of polyphonic choral music, and this Mass is considered his masterpiece.

A large group of nearby residents and visitors from the Bay cities filled the Chapel. Father Bowling, C. S. P., student chaplain, was celebrant of the Mass. Brother Julian accompanied the choir at the organ.

Mt. La Salle Quarterly Appears During Recess

That Saint Mary's College is not the only Brothers' school to boast of a quarterly magazine was evident with the publication of "De La Salle" by the scholastics enrolled at the new Mount de la Salle Novitiate in Napa County. Brother Cornelius of the College faculty is acting editor and manager of the periodical.

Contributors to the quarterly not only number scholastics but also Brothers actively engaged in teaching in the many Brothers' schools. Brother Francis, recently of Saint Mary's College High in Berkeley and now at the College, is one of the most prominent contributors.

Included in the excellent Christmas number are to be found articles both literary and journalistic in content.

NOTICE

The first regular meeting of the Collegian staff will be held Monday, January 11, at 12:20 in room 110 Science building. These meetings will be held weekly and attendance of all staff members is expected. All students desiring to work in any department of the paper are invited to attend.

FORMER FACULTY MEMBERS PASS ON

This week the Christian Brothers and their many friends morn the loss of two devout and ardent members of the order, Brother Paul, of Saint Mary's College High School, and Brother Lactain, of the Christian Brothers Novitiate, at Martinez.

Brother Paul died last Tuesday night in Providence Hospital, after an illness of one week. He was 61 years of age, and was a member of the Christian Brothers for 46 years.

Santa Rosa Native

Born in Santa Rosa as Francis Martin, he studied at the brotherhood school at Martinez, and later taught at St. Joseph's academy in Oakland. In the later years of his life he held many responsible posts as director of the brotherhood schools in Santa Rosa, San Rafael and elsewhere. For five years ending in 1930, he was director of finance for the province of San Francisco, after which he became prefect of the College high school.

The zeal, devotion, and sincerity of his personality has endeared him to his Order as well as to his many friends, and his many words of advice and instruction shall long be respected by his many students.

In the death of Brother Lactain the Church Militant has lost a valiant soldier, the Institute of the Christian Brothers a devoted son, the community of the Novitiate at Martinez an edifying member, Ireland an ardent patriot, and the United States a loyal citizen.

Former Merchant

Before becoming a member of the Order of the Brothers of the Christian Schools in 1872, Brother Lactain (Timothy O'Connell) was engaged in the drygoods business in San Francisco.

His term of religious training completed he was sent to Saint Mary's College, then on the Mission Road to San Francisco to act as prefect of the lower division. The superiors, recognizing his energy and talent, appointed him principal of St. Anthony's, Oakland. He served in a similar capacity at St. Patrick's, West Oakland; at St. Joseph's Academy, Oakland, and in St. Michael's College, Portland.

Freshman Class Forms Three New Committees

In an effort to make the spring semester active and interesting for the resident students, the freshman class has formed three committees, literary, social, and athletic, to organize and direct student activity in these The committees were named by Brother Patrick and Frank Twomey, class president, with the approval and commendation of the Chancellor.

According to Brother Patrick the committees will by their leadership arouse organized student interest in worthwhile activities and by their programs make it possible for everyone to do something interesting with his leisure time.

The literary committee, which will sponsor debates, essay and oratorical contests, is composed of Jack Kiernan, Paul Burke, J. Mallarino, and Noel Sherry.

The social committee, whose principal aim is to enliven the dull winter evenings by furthering such activities as plays, musicals, and bridge tournaments, consists of Campbell Juleff, Karp Stockton, Stanley Sinclair, Lee Atwood, and Al Murphy.

The athletic committee, which will organize competitive sports, consists of Al Nichelini, J. Tomjack, F. Keoski and Bob Latuda.

College Resumes Broadcasts on Station K.T.A.B. Tuesday

Saint Mary's College highly popular "Classroom of the Air" radio programs will be resumed on next Tuesday night at 8:30 when Brother Henry will discuss before the KTAB microphone "Robert Louis Stevenson and San Francisco."

This is the first Saint Mary's program of the new year and according to Harry Garrettsee the programs will be a weekly feature over KTAB's air lanes for seventeen consecutive weeks.

Because of the fact that a new station has been obtained for the broadcasts and because an earlier time has been set it is expected that the Saint Mary's broadcasts will enjoy even a higher popularity than those of the past semesters.

Musical Programs Featured

A fifteen piece musical ensemble under the direction of Walter F. Larew will lend a musical background to the programs. All of the members of the ensemble are members of the Saint Mary's College orchestra.

In addition to announcing the programs Harry Garrettsee, campus scribe, will arrange the programs. According to present plans a faculty member of the College will speak each week on a subject on which he has made special research work.

Brother Henry will open the broadcasts and he will be followed by Mr. William Marciniak, economics instructor, next week. Other instructors will appear before the microphone each succeeding week.

Broadcasts Are Unique

In sponsoring the "Classroom of the Air" Saint Mary's College is performing a unique educational work which no other institution of higher learning of this section has attempted.

Attesting to the success of the broadcasts are the scores of complimentary letters which the radio manager received after each broadcast last spring.

With the wider range of the new station it is expected that the programs will now reach thousands of new listeners.

The broadcasts will run for a half hour commencing at 8:30 p.m. and ending at 9 o'clock.

Brother Henry on Stevenson

In discussing Robert Louis Stevenson, Brother Henry of the English department, will be touching upon a subject with which he is quite familiar. Brother Henry has made special study of the life and writings of Stevenson and his discussion should be very absorbing to all Californians and admirers of Stevenson's writings. It is expected that the discussion will be confined to Stevenson and the influence of San Francisco on his writings.

The ensemble under Larew's baton will furnish musical numbers appropriate to the discussion during intermissions.

Last year the programs were held in the studios of KROW from 10 p.m. to 10:30 and due to lateness of the hour Garrettsee has had the broadcasts moved up an hour and a half which he hopes will meet with the approval of dialists.

Tune in on the first broadcast of the "Classroom of the Air" next Tuesday night at 8:30.

Music Department Schedules Opera

In order to stimulate campus interest in fine music, the music department of the College has outlined an ambitious program for the current semester.

The feature will be a public production of Schubert's delightful opera "Rosamunde." The entire case will be from the campus, with no professional assistance. The production is under the direction of Professor W. G. Alexander Ball, F.R.A.M., and is being produced with the special approbation of the Chancellor.

While the dates are not ready for publication, the first performance will be held shortly at the Oakland Elks' Auditorium, a second performance being scheduled for the Shriners' Auditorium in San Francisco.

The undertaking of such an elaborate production is a great step forward in the cultural life of Saint Mary's. It is hoped that all talented students will not hesitate to enroll with Professor Ball, whose past success is ample guarantee of what finished work he can produce.

Rosamunde, the female lead, will be played by Miss Winifred Chilton of Berkeley, late of the San Francisco Opera Company. The female chorus will be taken from either Mills College or the College of the Holy Names.

The college orchestra, for which recruits are requested, will play the entire score. Due to the expensive costumes, not more than fifty men can be accepted, hence it is urged that all interested notify Mr. Ball or Mr. Sangiorgi immediately.

Instructor Economics Accompanies Team

Mr. Foran of the economics department of the College proved to be one of the leading rooters for the basketball team during their recent barnstorming trip.

Mr. Foran avers that he saw more of Northern California on the trip than he ever expected in his life. He also stated that traveling with the team is a perfect way to rest up after correcting the examination books for a semester.

Seniors Sporting Their New Rings

Seniors finally adopted their official class rings at the last meeting of 1931, awarding the contract to the Gardner-Gravelle Company of San Francisco. The rings are the same as those of last year's class, with ruby stone, engraving of the chapel on one shank and class numerals and degree on the other.

Class members may place their orders with any member of the committee, including Bob McAndrews, Ed Shanahan, Jack Hennessy, Elmer Preston and Maurice Graves, or in the athletic office at any time.

Many rings have been ordered already. The first batch is expected to appear on the campus in about two weeks.

Tentative plans for a senior informal dance for early in this semester were also laid at the final meeting. The dance is intended as a means of raising funds for the senior gift. Action was postponed pending obtaining of official approval.

New Bridge and Garage Ready for Service Soon

Due to the tremendous amount of rainfall the garages were not completed during the Christmas holidays. However, it is expected that within the next week these garages will be ready for occupancy. To date, the roof and cement floors are in and the only thing that remains to be done is to put on the doors and other minor operations. There are still some of the garages left for rental.

The new bridge is almost complete, but work on this was also hindered by the rain. As soon as the roadbed settles, the approach will be paved and the asphaltum and paint will be applied to the bridge.

The work on the bridge is being done by a large San Francisco construction company of which a former Saint Mary's graduate is the general superintendent.

Mr. Le Fevre's office has been enlarged and a new vault has been installed. The publicity committee has had an office fixed up for them so that they may carry on their work in a more efficient manner.

ALUMNI LECTURE SERIES STARTS

The annual series of lectures by members of the faculty of Saint Mary's and given under the auspices of the Education Committee of the Saint Mary's Alumni Association, opened at the Knight of Columbus Hall, 150 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, last evening when Brother Leo spoke on the subject of: "Dante, Shakespeare and Recent Scholarship." Brother Leo will deliver two other lectures: one on January 21, "The Spirit of Dante," and one on February 4, on "The Spirit of Shakespeare."

Professor James L. Hagerty will lecture on "Modern Messiahs" on January 14 and Professor Louis F. Le Fevre will lecture on "Guilds and Sweatshops" on January 28.

The title of the series is: "The Spirit of Civilization." William R. Lowery '11, chairman of the Alumni Education Committee, is making the entire arrangements for the series, the third annual series to be given by the Association. The series will be repeated in Oakland beginning on Thursday evening, February 11.

Juniors Begin Plans For Annual Formal

The advent of the spring semester has stirred the junior class with activity in the promotion of the Junior Prom, destined this year to surpass any other social event of the year. President Clement Collins of the junior class has been in conference with members of the prom committee which will be announced shortly, and announces preliminary plans for the event.

The date will be February fifth, the last social event before Lent, and if all planned features are included it will be one that will linger long in student memory.

So far the committee has not selected a definite place for the event, but the new Matson Steamer "Mariposa," "Tait's at the Beach," as well as several San Francisco hotels are under consideration.

The favors for the event have been designed, and will be unannounced until the night of the Prom. A distinct novelty is offered as a favor, and the order for them will be placed next week.

Bids are priced at three dollars and will be on sale a week from Monday and may be purchased from any member of the Prom committee, which will be announced in next week's Collegian.

Band Practice Starts With Good Turnout

Band practice for the spring semester began last Monday, with an 80 per cent attendance. Future practices will be held regularly, at a time and place to be designated later, in preparation for the coming spring concert.

Several programs have already been arranged. Among them are the participation of the band at the dedication ceremonies of the new College of the Holy Names High School, the Knights of Columbus annual charity football game,

CONDOLENCES

The Collegian extends the condolences of the student body to Reder Claeys '32 on the death of his wife, to Edward McSweeny '35 on the death of his father, and to the relatives and friends of the late Brothers Paul and Lactain.

WINTER NUMBER OF MORAGA QUARTERLY TO APPEAR MONDAY

Tardy Issue Contains Essay by Brother Leo and Prof. Hagerty

Several weeks late but making up for tardiness by excellence, the winter number of the Moraga Quarterly will appear on the campus next Monday afternoon, January 11. According to Professor Hagerty, co-editor, the heavy rains of the past few weeks which have been blamed for almost everything,were the cause of manuscripts being delayed.

The forthcoming issue contains articles by H. D. B. Soule, instructor in Greek and Latin; Claude T. Silva, instructor in history; Brother Z. Leo, chancellor; James L. Hagerty, professor of philosophy, and Robert J. McAndrews, editor of the Collegian.

Wide Variety

Contributions to this number cover a wide range of subject matter, the issue containing a greater variety than any of its predecessors.

BrotherLeo 's article, probably the leading feature of the winter number, is a treatment of the famous English Dante scholar, Philip H. Wicksteed. Professor Hagerty's contribution deals lightly with the subject of intercollegiate athletics. McAndrews' paper is the winning essay in the recent Bartley P. Oliver Citizenship contest.

Circulation Leaps Upward

Bernard Dobbins, business manager of the publication, reports that circulation has been steadily growing and took an especially big jump over the holidays. Subscribers are located in all sections of the country.

Numerous colleges and universities have added the Quarterly to their regular library periodical collections, and several eastern professors have written congratulatory letters to the editors. The latest literary authority to send in his subscription is Dr. E. K. Rand of Harvard University.

Major Clubs Are Given Moderators

The Collegian's long campaign for action on the part of campus clubs and societies may at last bear some fruit as a result of action taken by the Chancellor's Office.

In a letter sent to all societies, Brother Leo asked that a definite program for the coming semester be adopted and submitted to his office as a sign of life. Although nothing definite was said, it is expected that organizations which give no indications of rising from their dormant stages will be quietly dissolved.

Moderators for the various societies were asked to do their part in promoting activity. Several new faculty moderators were appointed, including Brother Andrew for the A. P. G. U., and Brother Virgil for the Press club.

Club officers are expected to get their programs under way starting next week. Ed Moss, president of the Press clubs, announced that his organization will continue its last year's program of sponsoring moving pictures for the boarders. He will attempt to obtain "The Front Page" for an early showing.

It is also rumored that the Press club intends to promote in the future a convention of Catholic high school journalists similar to that held each year at the University of California.

COLLEGIAN ANNOUNCES THEIR NEW RATE CARDS

In keeping with the times the business manager of the Collegian has announced a change in the advertising rates of the official organ.

New local and national rate cards have been printed, and are ready for distribution. The new rates are expected to appear more attractive to prospective advertisers, and it is hoped that all will profit from the change.

ALUMNI NOTES

ALUMNI SPONSOR TRIP TO EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

For the third successive year the Saint Mary's Alumni Association is to sponsor a trip to Europe according to a recent decision by the Alumni board of directors. The 1932 European trip will have as its feature the International Eucharistic Congress to be held in Dublin, Ireland, in June.

The Saint Mary's group will leave San Francisco during the early part of June returning to the United States in August. Following the visit to the Eucharistic Congress the group will visit many of the countries of continental Europe.

Arrangements for the trip are being made under the direction of Daniel E. Doran '12, who has directed the last two trips to Europe of the Alumni Association, and Max Podlick of the Santa Fe Railroad, who arranged for the trip of the varsity of Fordham last year and who arranged for the Alumni trip of the U. S. C. game at Los Angeles in September.

The committee which decided on the preliminary plans for the European trip was: Past President James M. Smith '10, John L. Flynn '01, president of the San Francisco unit, and Jack Bill '29, a member of the board of directors.

Information in regard to the trip can be secured by writing to Daniel E. Doran, Monadnock Bldg., San Francisco or to the Alumni office, Saint Mary's College, California.

ALUMNI BOARD MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Alumni Association was held at the San Francisco Elks Club last Wednesday evening. Plans were made for the activity of the Association during the coming semester, especially in regard to the educational activities. These educational activities are: Lecture series in San Francisco and Oakland, transition course for members of the senior class, and an educational conference on Homecoming Day.

Other activities on the program during the coming semester :are Homecoming Day on March 6 and the dinner to the graduates immediately before graduation.

COLONEL BARTLETT SPEAKS At OAKLAND LUNCHEON

Colonel Le Roy Bartlett, chief examiner for the civil service commission of Alameda County, was the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Oakland unit of the Alumni which was held at the Oakland Elks Club last Tuesday.

Colonel Bartlett told of the work of the civil service examiner and of the efforts made by the examiner to secure examinations that will be fair to all applicants and at the same time provide a true test of ability for the job to be filled.

Gerald Lawlor '98, presided as chairman at the luncheon and introduced the speaker. President Frank Atwill '16, has appointed Leo Mahoney '19, as chairman of the next luncheon, which will be held at the Oakland Elks on February 2.

SAN FRANCISCO LUNCHEON

At the regular monthly meeting of the San Francisco unit held at the Elks Club yesterday William R. Lowery '11, chairman of the education committee of the Alumni was the principal speaker. He told of the work of the committee in attempting to advance the educational prestige of the College beyond the confines of the campus through the medium of lecture series. He also told of the transition course which is now in its fifth year at the College and which is given under the auspices of the Alumni Association to the senior class during the spring semester.

CLASS OF '23 MEET

At a farewell to Dr. James J. McGinniss '23, prior to his return to New York City, members of the class of '23 held a dinner at the San Francisco Elks Club on Saturday, December 19. In addition to Dr. McGinnis the following members of the class were present: Lawrence J. Archer, Timothy J. Canty, Milton Coglan, Wallace Grant and George Rotenkolber.

DUDDY C. C. PRESIDENT

Ray Duddy, a former student of Saint Mary's in 1918, and now manager of a theater in Salinas, has just been elected president of the Salinas Chamber of Commerce. Duddy was formerly a resident of Oakland. He has been a resident of Salinas for but three years, which makes his election to the new office all the more an honor.

DEATH OF JAMES COONEY '85

A graduate of nearly fifty years ago when the College was out on the Mission Road, James J. Cooney of San Francisco died there last week and was buried on Saturday, January 2. Mr. Cooney was a graduate of the class of '85 and for many years had been employed by the city and county of San Francisco.

HARRY MARKHAM '24

Harry Markham of the academic class of 1924 and now a senior student in St. Patrick's Seminary at Menlo Park was a visitor at the College this week. Harry will be ordained this June.

DOBBINS BROTHERS

Also visiting the campus were Bernard Dobbins '30, and Harold Dobbins '31, graduate students at the University of California. Accompanying them were Mr. Kelly and Mr. Gilbert, former students of Saint Mary's High School, who are studying for the priesthood at St. Patrick's Seminary, Menlo Park.

W. L. "KELLY" WALES '22 NEW SPALDING MANAGER

W. L. "Kelly" Wales '22, who has managed the Alumni baseball team for the Homecoming day game since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary and who formerly starred on the varsity baseball team, has just been appointed manager of the A. G. Spalding & Co. sporting goods store in Oakland.

After leaving Saint Mary's "Kelly" played professional baseball for several years, following which he entered the employ of Spaldings. With a wide circle of friends and with his old "stick-to-it-iveness," Wales has secured his present important position. To "Kelly" Wales the Alumni Association extends hearyt cnogratulations.

HOMECOMING DAY MARCH 6

The annual Homecoming day celebration of the Alumni Association will be held at the College on Sunday, March 6, and it is expected that many new features will appear on this year's program. Among the events on the program will be the annual Communion, education conferences, baseball game and Homecoming day dinner.

McNAMARA '16, APPOINTED AS MERCED ASSESSOR

J. Emmett McNamara '16, former graduate manager of Saint Mary's and prominent real estate man of Merced, has just been appointed assessor of Merced County. McNamara is a member of the board of directors of the Alumni Association. For many years he has been active in the affairs of the American Legion in the state. To the new assessor the Alumni Association extends hearty congratulations.

JOHNSON '29, PITCHFORD '30

The Alumni Office has recently received letters from Gayle "Octy" Johnson '29, of Boise, Idaho, and from Carroll "Cal" Pitchford '30, of Detroit, Michigan. Octy Johnson is on a farm in Boise. As an undergraduate he was a member of the basketball team and quarterback on the football team.

Cal Pitchford is going to school in Detroit. He was a former star fullback on the varsity and was also a member of the basketball team.

Recent Unusual Storm Washes Out Lake Trail

Unprecedented rain storms which struck the Bay region during the holidays left their mark upon the College campus in many places.

Students pursuing favorite walks in the hills back of the College report that deep mud makes passage impossible in many places, while many of the paths have been wiped out. In one place a cow, trapped by the mud, died of exhaustion.

Lake La Salle is higher than it has ever been, with water constantly flowing over the dam flood-gates. The surface is thick with driftwood and debris washed from the banks.

The path around the lake, built by the hard labor of students and brothers at Arbor Day two years ago, is virtually ruined as a result of landslides. Complete rerouting will be necessary if the path is rebuilt.

A new bench has been installed on the lake bank near the dam, but to reach it entails plowing through thick mud. Stan Barr, proprietor of the show shine stand, has been accused of installing the bench.

Scholarships Open To Air-minded Men

With flying and ground school scholarships totaling $7,245 in cash value, a nation-wide competition among college students for the third annual W. E. Boeing Aviation Scholarships offered at the Boeing School of Aeronautics, Oakland, California, was opened today.

The first prize award will be the full Boeing Master Piolt ground and flying scholarship covering 204 hours of flying and 924 hours of ground school instruction at the school. This course requires nine months for completion and its tuition value is $5,275. Second, third and fourth award winners are offered a choice of the Boeing Master Mechanic course, the Boeing Master Pilot ground course or the Boeing Private Pilot ground and flying course.

It was announced that any undergraduate students who will have completed one year of study in college by July 15, 1932, and who ranks scholastically in the upper-one-third of his class, is eligible to compete for the Boeing scholarships. Members of the 1932 graduating class are also eligible. Apply at the Recorder's Office for full details of the scholarship.

Chancellor Delights With Poetry Recital

At Antioch last Wednesday Brother Leo delighted a large audience with a poetry recitation. The recitation was a feature of a program sponsored by the local chapter of the Young Ladies' Institute, consisting of the recitation, a film performance, and a musicale.

Hundreds of Contra Costa folk filled the El Campanile Theater to hear the Chancellor. The poems selected by Brother Leo for the performance were:

"Tarentella," by Hillaire Belloc; "This Is Told in Confidence," by Harry Kemp; "Road to Vagabondia," by F. Dana Burnett; "Wine and Water," by Gilbert Chesterton, and a novelty recitation entitled "To Let."

Brothers Lactain and Paul

For a number of years he served in minor capacities at St. Vincent's in Marin County, at Saint Mary's College High School, Berkeley, and for the last twenty-four years at De la Salle Institute.

Zeal and earnestness marked the administrations of these two men in their respective fields. Everywhere they have labored they have left the impress of their sanctity. Their students remember them as devoted teachers, their conferers, as men of godliness, and their superiors cherish their memory for their docility and helpfulness.

Student Brothers Sing

Members of the Student Brothers' Choir from Saint Mary's sang at both funeral Masses.

Poetry Club Invites New Members to Join

Sunday, January 17, will mark the first 1932 meeting of the Catholic College Poetry Society, organized by Saint Mary's College last semester. Brother Leo, director, will preside.

At present the society has over twenty members on its roster, recruited from colleges of the bay district.

Students interested in poetry are welcome to join the society and are invited to attend the meeting, which will be held in the afternoon in Center Hall Lounge.

Chancellor Principal Speaker at Banquet

More than 1,000 men who have made retreats with the Jesuits at El Retiro San Inigo, in Los Altos will come from all parts of northern California to attend a banquet at which Brother Leo, Chancellor of Saint Mary's College, will be the principal speaker of the evening.

This banquet is an annual affair of the Catholic Laymen's Retreat Association, and will be held in the Hotel St. Francis on January 25. The topic of Brother Leo's speech will be: "The Value of the Retreat Movement to Men of All Faiths."

VARSITY QUINTET IN GREAT FORM ON BARNSTORM TRIP TO WIN FIVE

SacramentoY. M. I. Takes Measure of Gaels; Captain Len Callan in Brilliant Form

Playing a brilliant brand of basketball, the Gael basketball squad campaigned the hinterlands during the Christmas vacation with marked success—winning five contests and losing one closely contested struggle by five points.

Making one night stands in the smaller northern California cities, the men of Coach McNally enjoyed a highly successful trip with banner crowds turning out all along the line to witness their games.

In order, the Gaels vanquished the Mare Islanders by a 38-22 count at Vallejo, lost to the Sacramento Y. M. I. at Sacramento, 37 to 32; defeated Chico State at Chico, 42-38; defeated the Marysville Phi Delta Kappa's by a 38-10 score at Marysville, defeated the Napa Ramblers at Napa, 28 to 21, and climaxed their campaign with a 33-19 rout of the Stockton Amblers at Stockton.

Gaels Beat Mare Island

Held on almost even terms during the first half the Gael cagers rallied at the outset of the second half and scored enough points to win the game.

When Captain Len Callan hit four field goals in rapid succession at the start of the half, the outcome was never in doubt. Callan was high with 13 points. Hal Johnson scored 8, El Lang 7, and Fred Caviglia 6.

Varsity Loses to Sacramentans

Playing against the same team that also defeated Santa Clara, the traveling Gaels went down to a bitterly fought 37-32 defeat at the hands of the Sacramento Y. M. I.

Captain Len Callan was the big siege gun for the Gaels and accounted for eight points. Al Dupper and John Aragni, guards. played a sterling game. It was the first defeat of the season.

Gaels Whip Chico State

Before a crowd that taxed the capacity of the Chico court, Vince McNally's hoopsters played one of the most thrilling games of the entire tour when they downed the Chico teachers by a 42-38 count.

The Moagans led at half time, 16 to 12, but faltered before a determined Chico rally in the second half and trailed 32-30, only to come from behind and with a spirited drive win the victory.

Fred Caviglia enjoyed one of his big nights to take high score with 16 points. Hal Johnson, brilliant guard, besides playing a flossy game at the post, found time to score ten points. Len Callan flashed with 8 points, and Aragni and Lang took 4 points apiece.

Defeat Marysville Five

A Phi Delta Kappa quintet of Marysville was the Gaels' next victim to the words and music of 38 points to 10. Thirteen men saw action in this game for the Gaels, and the boys had little trouble with the frat men. At half time they led 20 to 2.

With five curving field goals to his credit Fred Caviglia again took high scoring honors. Elwood Lang at center hit 8 points while Jim O'Donnell and Tom Curran gathered 4 points each.

Marysville fans were disappointed because Charley Baird, the hometown hero, did not appear with the Gael basketeers.

Napa Ramblers Fall, 28-21

Leading most of the way, the Saint Mary's varsity defeated the Napa Ramblers by a 28-21 score. Fred Caviglia was again high for the Gaels with 10 digits and was closely followed by Guard John Aragni, who tossed in 8 points from short range. Captain Len Callan followed with 5 points and played a splendid floor game. Joel Coffield, captain of last season's championship California team, was the mainstay of the Rambler five.

Win Over Stockton Amblers

Climaxing their journeys, the Moaga hoopsters defeated the Stockton Amblers by a 33-19 score. The Amblers never threatened and were powerless to halt the Gael sharpshooters.

Captain Len Callan again led the Gael scorers with 15 points in addition to his flawless floor game. Tom Curran at guard, Ray Grosse at center, and John Aragni at guard flashed for the smoothly working Moragans.

U. C. L. A. Sports Editor

Ending an exhaustive survey of the Coast football ranks, the Daily Bruin yesterday completed compilation of its first official all-Coast football team. Eight sports editors of Coast collegiate newspapers, representing every section of the Pacific slope, assisted in the formation of the team which probably is the fairest and most impartial named to date.

The championship University of Southern California squad impressed the eight judges the most. Five Trojans gained first team berths. The fight between Gus Shaver and Orv Mohler, Trojan quarterbacks, for the first string pilot post was interesting. Many writers, rather than relegate Mohler to the second string, placed the S. C. backfield dynamo at a halfback post on the first squad. In that capacity, Mohler polled nearly enough votes to win first team honors, besides getting the second string quarterback job.

With but one exception both Gus Shaver and Ernie Pinckert won the first string jobs; Shaver at quarterback, Pinckert at right halfback. The dissenting vote in both cases came from Howard Douglass, Oregon State, who placed Mohler ahead of Shaver, and Moe of Oregon State before Pinckert.

California followed S. C. in the number of men, the Bears placing three, in Rusty Gill, fullback; Ralph Stone, end, and Frank Medanich, center.

Williamson, S. C. center, was right behind Medanich, being nosed out by a point in the voting. Gill won easily over Musick, Troy fullback.

Washington Bids

Washington, although not a big figure in the conference this year, placed two men in Merle "Sheriff" Hufford, halfback, and Paul Schwegler, tackle. Schwegler was the only lineman to have but one dissenting vote against him, making seven first strings.

The northwest editors, incidentally, furnished the equilibrium necessary to compile a representative team. The California vote was solidly for the southern schools, creating an unfair advantage, but the Oregon and Washington correspondents showed much more balance and maintained absolute equality in their choice.

The second team showed another predominance in U. S. C.'s favor, the Trojans placing three men, Saint Mary's, Stanford, and California tied for second place, each gaining two po-

Athens Club Beats St. Mary's By 31-26

Showing a complete reversal of form over the opening games of the season, the Gael quintet was defeated last Monday night by the Athens Club by a score of 31 to 26.

For a while it looked like another Saint Mary's victory, for the varsity quickly jumped into the lead when Curran and Aragni shot two baskets from outside the circle. They ran it up to 7 to 0 before the Acorns began to function.

With Granger and Kopke sinking long shots the club team came within hailing distance of the Moragans and trailed by a lone ubcket, 13 to 11, at half time.

Acorns in Lead

Shortly after the second half opened Ford of the Oakland team began to worry the varsity with his shots that flew from all angles. Although he made only one field goal he put Saint Mary's on the defensive.

Inability to guard the hole was the chief factor in the Saints' defeat. Five times after working the ball up the court they were unable to cover up in time to stop pot shots that meant ten points and the ball game.

Late in the half the Winged Acorns took a 10 point lead and then finished the ball game with subs in the lineup.

Curran Aggressive

Tom Curran at guard for Saint Mary's played a nice offensive game and pepped things up all during the game. A tendency to become rattled at critical moments seemed to take away from the efficiency of Curran's performance.

Caviglia and Callan could not hit the hoop for the Gaels to boost the score to any great extent and this hurt their chances greatly.

Varsity Plays Club Team Here Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock the strong Olympic Club team will tangle with McNally's five in Madigan gym.

Last Wednesday evening the Post Street team trounced California and are rated as heavy favorites over the Gaels. Losing only one game to date, to the Oregon Aggies, the club outfit looms as the strongest team in this section of the state, next to the Y. M. I.

Drub Cards

The only basis of comparison between the Gaels and the Club is the contests the two have played against Stanford. The Gaels won by 14 points over the Cards and Hubbard's quintet walked away with the Reds in a double header a few nights later at Kezar.

It is expected that Hal Johnson will return to the game tonight after an absence of ten days due to a leg injury. It would not be surprising to see him shifted from guard to forward, a position he is thoroughly familiar with, having played there last season. Aragni and Curran are playing passible ball at the guard positions and Johnson's appearance at forward would bolster the team due to the all around edge he has over Caviglia.

Watch Feerick

Tom Feerick is the leading light of the Club and will be the man to keep under control if the varsity is to make any sort of a contest of tonight's meeting. The lineups:

| Gaels | | Olympic Club |
|---|---|---|
| Callan | F | Feerick |
| Johnson | F | Lohr |
| Lang | C | Force |
| Curan | G | Boberg |
| Aragni | G | Wilson |

Golf Champ Enters Gael Frosh Class

A golf champion in the person of August "Slim" Dreier made his appearance on the Saint Mary's campus Monday. "Slim" was one of the first entrants of the class of '36.

Dreier is the junior champion of northern California and is the champion of the San Francisco high schools. He is rated as the most promising of the state's younger golfers.

Frosh Five Rallies To Down Prep Team

In a spirited second half rally the frosh casaba tossers trounced St. Elizabeth's quintet, Wednesday evening, 29-10 at Madigan gym. Probably if the first team combination of the yearlings had played most of the game, the score would have been much larger, but as soon as a favorable lead was gained every member on the squad saw service.

Opening slowly and displaying a lack of teamwork, the frosh looked as bad as their opponents, who were quite small. The prep team played a slow game with the guards stalling throughout and bringing the ball up the court very slowly, figuring to keep the score as low as possible.

Half time score placed the Gaelets ahead 11-7, but the yearlings came back strong in the later period with a fast breaking offense and a tight shifting zone defense to run up numerous buckets. In this scoring spree that lasted ten minutes, Lazzeri played well and followed under the bucket to gather 7 points for himself and gain high point honors of the game.

Scott at forward accounted for 6 digits, as did Gerner at guard. Bill Mead, the scoring sensation in other contests, gained 4 points, besides being the key man of the offensive attack. For the losers Toucht made 4 points and "Spider" Grosse played a fine floor game. It was the fifth consecutive win for the frosh and due to the absence of Coach McNally three varsity players, Curran, Aragni, and Lang, handled the team.

GAELS DRUB CARD BASKETBALL TEAM

Caviglia Stars With 21 Pts.; Saint Mary's Classy

A surprising Saint Mary's quintet took time out from their barnstorming trip on December 24 to journey down to Stanford University and scalp the Indians by a score of 38-24.

The Gaels led all the way and in the second half the game developed into a rout when Caviglia, sophomore forward, tossed in five field goals in rapid succession.

Contrary to pre-game notices the game was not of an experimental nature. For unknown reasons the plans of 12 foot baskets and zoned tip-off were abandoned.

Sophomore Flashes

The Stanford fans stood amazed at Fred Caviglia's startling exhibition. Twenty-one points the sophomore forward scored—from long and short range. It was Caviglia's night and the Indians were powerless to stop him.

Stanford held the lead only twice. Once at 2-0 and again at 4-2. The first half was fairly even but both Caviglia and Captain Callan went wild in the second half to drop points from all possible angles.

The starting five of the Gaels showed plenty of class. It was composed of Captain Callan and Caviglia, forwards; Aragni and Johnson, guards, and Lang, center.

Sweet Victory

It was the first victory scored over Stanford in 12 years and was sweet indeed to the fighting Moragans.

Since the Gael defeat the Indians have defeated both Santa Clara and San Francisco—Saint Mary's arch-rivals on the court.

All of which may or may not mean something.

THE TIP-OFF

By ED CONE

With the moleskins packed away until next fall, sports of a somewhat lesser degree as far as publicity is concerned make their annual appearance. Basketball is first on the list and will be quickly followed by baseball, to say nothing of track and tennis. And while we're on the subject of minor sports, how about reviving the one-time interest in golf?

Before the holiday season this column made mention of the fact that the baseball diamond needed overhauling to put it in playing shape. We still claim it does. What with Stanford and S. F. U. already under way with practice we pause to ask if this year will be a repetition of last season with regard to playing conditions for the national pastimers. If so, the results will probably be the same — a poor season due to lack of practice occasioned by absolutely rank playing conditions.

What's happened to the basketball team? Winning nine of eleven games in the early season is something to marvel at when one looks back over a period of some five or six years and is reminded of the success or lack of it that former quintets of this school have enjoyed. All of which bears out the contention the writer made at the beginning of last season—"Give McNally a chance to get started and he'll produce a representative team."

The first rumble of discontent in casaba circles this year is the one of Richard Friendlich, editor of the Stanford Daily. Frieldnich bemoans the fact that the officials who have worked in Cardinal games for the past season and this season to date are far from being efficient. Now we have always considered Ned Kay and Ernie Bailey who usually work important games around this section as A-No. 1 officials. We don't know the circumstances surrounding the objections from the Farm, but we do know that you'll have to look far before improving on the work of the two gentlemen we have mentioned.

In other columns of this paper will be found the All-Coast football team picked by eight college sports editors and it will in all probability call for the usual round of Bronx cheers. If it is of any interest to you, the Collegian picked the following men: Wallendorf, Bernier, Smith, Ehrhorn, Fischer, Rosenberg, Williamson, Shaver, Pinckert, Toscani, and Musick.

Trojan players recently went on record as saying that the Tulane team was the best they had faced all year. While it is true that the Southerners gained more yardage through the U. S. C. team than any other this season, the fact remains that they did not come as close to winning as did either California or Notre Dame—and Saint Mary's beat the Trojans. If "best" means the ability to gain consistently in the middle of the field, then we offer no argument in the case. But certainly the Jonesmen had to play harder and better ball to trim California and Notre Dame than they did to outscore Tulane. And Saint Mary's

Nothing like starting in when you are young at the game. That's the policy of both Len Callan and "Duck" Aragni of the varsity. While McNally took a night off to look over California and the Olympic Club, Callan was in charge of the reserves at Petaluma and Aragni saw that all went well with the frosh in Madigan gym.

About the classiest team hereabouts or any other place is the San Francisco Y. M. I. After seeing them take Price's Bears down the line we came home with the feeling that the baskets in the local gym will be given a real workout when the Institute come to Moraga to play Saint Mary's. Their all-star cast includes Leahy, Maloney, Gough, Hale, Hamm, Whitlock, and other fine players.

Caviglia's performance on the Stanford court when he ran up 21 points is something to think about when you consider players. It comes close to Callan's display last year when the diminutive Gael tanked 22 points against the Pacific Tigers.

Y.M.C.A. OUTFIT TO PLAY MORAGANS

San Francisco Aggregation Very Fast

Reputedly the fastest breaking basketball team on the Pacific Coast, the Y. M. C. A. five of San Francisco will invade Madigan gym on Tuesday night to meet the Gael quintet.

Visitors Boast Speed

Last season the same team defeated such teams as the Y. M. I., Olympic Club, Athens Club, and numerous college aggregations, to win the Pacific basketball league title. To date they have lost only one game, that to the strong Y. M. I. early this week. They led the Y. M. I. for three quarters of the contest and lost in the closing minutes of play when the superior reserves of their opponents spelled defeat.

The San Franciscans boast of a young team but the members have been playing together for three years. All are former high school stars and mainly rely upon their tremendous speed to overcome their opponents. Boysen and Dougherty are the principal scorers, while Frediani at guard was acclaimed as a great prospect last season by college coaches.

Best Five to Start

Coach Vince McNally will take no chances Tuesday evening and will start his best five. The starting lineup will probably consist of Captain Callan and Caviglia at forwards, Lang at center, Curran and Aragni at guards. Hal Johnson, who is at present on the injured list with a torn leg muscle, will no doubt be used in the tussle.

Charley Baird, Wayne Pendleton, Fred and George Canrinus, Dupper and Estes, all gridders, are rapidly gaining true basketball form and also will see action in the near future.

Fordham to Play Gaels Again in '33

Again in 1933 the Galloping Gaels of Saint Mary's College will invade the Polo Grounds of New York City to attempt to corral the Fordham Rams.

This is according to Coach "Slip" Madigan who announced this week that the game had been closed for with officials of the eastern institution.

The Saint Mary's eleven will also play the Rams in New York City this fall and seem assured of a banner reception in the big town on their second invasion of the largest city in the nation.

The Gael Annual sports staff promises an outstanding athletic section in this year's book. Football, basketball, baseball, and minor sports will all be featured.

McNALLY TO WRITE

The latest addition to the ranks of the sports staff of the Collegian is none other than the popular Vince McNally, basketball coach of Saint Mary's.

McNally will be a regular contributor to the sports pages during the basketball season, his first article appearing next week.

A discussion of eastern, midwestern, and coast basketball; various styles of defense and offense; interpretation of technical rules and other interesting features will be written by McNally.

Gaelets Face Trio of Hard Court Tilts

The Gael Frosh hoop squad face some stiff opposition tonight and next week when they face three strong squads.

Tonight at 7 the frosh meet the Hayes Valley Club quintet from San Francisco. This group is reputed to be one of the strongest playground squads in all San Francisco.

On Tuesday night, January 12, the frosh will face the San Francisco Y. M. C. A. 145-lb. team. This team is a fast, tricky outfit and should give the young Gaels a hard evening.

Reserves Lose Close Tilt to Petalumans

Under the supervision of Len Callan, the second string basketball five were defeated by the Petaluma Eagle five 31 to 29 last Wednesday night at Petaluma.

Working under a handicap the Gael basketeers supplied the fans with many thrills during the evenings encounter.

Johnson at Forward

Hal Johnson playing forward for the first time this season was high point man for the Gaels, scoring nine points. Soldate of the Eagles won scoring honors for both teams with a total of 15 points.

Charlie Baird, playing for the first time this season, looked good while he was in the game. Terry Masterson, Wayne Pendleton and Al Dupper all starred on defense for the Saints.

With only a two point lead the Eagles started to stall for time with only two minutes left to play. Dittman of the Eagles broke through the Saints' defense to score a goal and put the Eagles out ahead 29 to 25. On the tip-off Fred Canrinus tiped the ball to Johnson who was fouled and made the shot good. Kenny followed Johnson's foul throw with a field goal cutting down the Eagles' lead to one point. Another foul on Johnson and the score was tied 29 up, with only seconds left to be played. On the following tip-off Singleton took the ball and shooting from the seventeen foot-line scored the winning points for the Eargles, six seconds before the end of the game.

Revised Schedule For Saint Team

With more than one-third of their schedule already played, 15 games now remain on the schedule of the Gael basketball squad.

The remainder of the schedule follows:

Jan. 8, Friday, Olympic Club here.
Jan. 12, Tuesday, Y. M. C. A. here.
Jan. 15, Friday, Nevada at Reno.
Jan. 16, Saturday, Nevada at Reno.
Jan. 20, Wednesday, Y. M. I. here.
Jan. 23, Saturday, S. F. State here.
Jan. 27, Wednesday, S. F. U. at Kezar
Jan. 30, Saturday, Rossi Florists here.
Feb. 3, Wednesday, Santa Clara at Kezar.
Feb. 5, Friday, S. F. U. here.
Feb. 9, Tuesday, California at Oakland Auditorium.
Feb. 13, Saturday, S. F. U. at Kezar.
Feb. 16, Tuesday, Santa Clara at Kezar.
Feb. 19, Friday, San Jose Golds here (tentative).
Feb. 24, Tuesday, Santa Clara at Kezar.

In the event that either Saint Mary's or Santa Clara wins the first two games of the series the final game will not be played. However, all three of the games with S. F. U. will be played, regardless of the outcome of the first two contests.

For the first time in recent years the Gaels will not meet the College of the Pacific five on the basketball floor. Last year the Gaels won and lost in two games with the Pacific five.

Bruin Team

sitions. Washington State copped one berth.

It was with sincere regret that the "Bruin" was forced to shift such adequate players as Bud Toscani, Saint Mary's; Orv Mohler, S. C.; and Corbus and Colvin, Stanford, to the second team. All were players of first water, and that they did not make the first team is not to their discredit.

The third team was probably the most representative of the group. The numbers went as follows: Oregon State 2, Washington State 2, Idaho 2, which was verym uch of a surprise; U. C. L. A. 2, Stanford 1, Oregon 1, and Saint Mary's 1.

The Bruin employed a system of voting which gave a player three points every time he was named on the first string, two points for second string mention, and one point for third string.

The highest possible number of votes any player could poll was 24. Some of the high men were: Shaver, S. C., 23; Pinckert, S. C., 23; Schwegler, W., 23; Gill, C., 20; Smith, S. C., 20.

The sports editors of the following college papers assisted in compiling the Daily Bruin's all-Coast football team: Lowell Cox, Stanford Daily; Sherwood Wirt, Daily Californian; George Blakolb, Washington State Evergreen; Walter Baker, Oregon Emerald; Howard Douglass, Oregon State Barometer; Mark Morris, Idaho Argonaut; Ed Cone, Saint Mary's Collegian; Stuart Wells, Daily Bruin.

GAEL - O - GRAMS

By Vincent Whelton

When Bud Toscani, the West's uncrowned All-American halfback, tossed aside his shiny red silk pants after the S. M. U. game, Gael fans shook their heads.

Now that Bud is gone, they figured, who was going to win the games for us when the next autumn rolls around?

How about Bill Beasley?

Of course no one can make the fans forget Bud's brilliant play, but, privately, the Antioch speedster is going to be one of the outstanding halfbacks around these parts next fall.

Bill can do everything that a good halfback should do.

He was the Gaels' outstanding passer last year; he is a fair punter; he is a brilliant ball-carrier and safety man. Not the least of his accomplishments is his defensive ability.

Defense first brought Bill into the spotlight when he intercepted a forward pass and ran 60 yards to a score against Fordham in his sophomore year.

Bill was the third highest scorer for the Galloping Gaels during the season just past and his deft passing arm accounted for many other touchdowns.

It was a perfect cross-field pass, Beasley to Toscani, that won the Southern Methodist game. That pass was just as perfect as any pass could be.

In the Santa Clara game the procedure was reversed. Here Bud passed to Bill to tie the score in that particular instance to prove that Bill could receive as well as propel the pigskin.

Perhaps that is where Bill's baseball expreience stood him in good stead. Infielders are sure catchers of a thrown ball and are just as certain throwing the ball.

Certainly you know that Bill Beasely has been one of the outstanding stars of the baseball team for the past two years—incidentally a standout hitter.

If Bill wins the right halfback post this fall it will be the first time in recent history that a triple threat man has ever played right half for the Gaels.

No doubt about it, the name Beasely is going to be spread over plenty of sport pages when the 1932 Gaels start galloping eight months hence.

McNally Named on Pro All-American

Back from a successful initial season on Eastern professional grid fields, Harry Ebding expresses keen desire to play with the money-paid players.

Harry was an all-coast end when he played for the Galloping Gaels and at the conclusion of the professional season was chosen as a second All-American end.

He also brings word that Frank McNally, former Gael tackle of All-Coast calibre, was converted to the pivot position and was acclaimed as an All-American professional center. It was Frank's first venture into such fast football company but he outplayed a veteran All-American in the person of Nate Barranger and several others.

Both boys seem to have enjoyed playing back East and have followed in the footsteps of Herrin, Bettencourt, Simas, and Stennet, all former Gael stars.

Barnstorm Tour

Vic Lusinchi was another point maker.

Fifteen men made the trips. Headed by Coach McNally and Virg Cattalini they were: Captain Len Callan, Johnson, Aragni, Dupper, Grosse, Lang, Curan, Caviglia, O'Donnell, Boyd, Masterson, Lusinchi, Kenny, and Mana.

"The Champ" Playing Fox Oakland Theater

"The Champ" already predicted by critics as one of 1932's best pictures, will open today at the Fox Oakland with Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper co-starred.

"The Champ" tells the story of a broken down prize fighter and his small son, Dinky. Humor and tragedy are linked in the production, one of the most tender it has been the privilege of the talking screen to offer. Roscoe Ates, the stuttering comedian, and Irene Rich, appear in the principal supporting roles.

Programmed with "The Champ" are a Laurel and Hardy comedy entitled "Helpmates," and Lynn Cowan's entertaining stage revue, "School Days," with a cast of variety favorites and the Red-Hot Harmonizers.

While students were enjoying the Christmas recess, carpenters were busy building a vault and improving conditions in the Athletic Office.

The vault will be used to house the many thousand of dollars worth of football tickets which are kept each season at Saint Mary's. Now the office resembles a bank with a high partition running the length of the room between Mr. Madigan's and Mr. Le Fevre's private offices. The space behind the partition will be alloted to the publicity department.

The mantle of prophet or visionary embraces a multitude of endeavors when it is bestowed upon the personality of such a man as Thomas Carlyle. Few men have been more revered in their life time than was this dour dyspeptic, and few men in later years with such a mantle stripped from them, have stood so naked and ashamed.

As a wielder of words Carlyle has few equals. It was his habit to fairly thunder forth the wieldy prose that is so apparent in "Sartor Resartus." He sought complexity of thought and of structure in his sentences, until the reader was forced to agree that here was something exceptional—indefinite, perhaps, but formidable.

In "Sartor Resartus"—which is the best demonstration of Carlyle that embodies his many characteristics, he thrills one with the Eternities and the Silence that distinguish its pages. He startles with his tremendous conception of man with his position and his dignity. He magnifies, pushes back the boundaries of time and space until the impression of expanse that is typically his is thoroughly manifested. An extract demonstrates this:

"Thus, like a God-created fire breathing Spirit-host, we emerge from the Inane; haste stormfully across the astonished earth, then plunge again into the Inane. Earth's mountains are levelled and her seas filled up in our passage; can the Earth, which is but dead and a vision, resist Spirits which have reality and are alive? On the hardest adamant some footprint of ours is stamped in; the last rear of the host will read traces of the earliest van. But whence — O Heaven, whither? Sense knows not; Faith knows not; only that it is through Mystery to Mystery, from God to God."

Thus presented is the force of Carlyle's direct teaching, yet the very sound and nature of it seems to herald its eventual weakness bringing it to end.

Men and women today are not attracted by this gospel of sorrow that pervades Carlyle. Happiness, pleasure, these are aims in life that they admit, with as great an enthusiasm as that which motivated the Scotsman's theories of Life and Work. Youth demonstrates a desire for a life in which pursuits are balanced, and the solid emphasis of Carlyle admits no sympathy with such conviction. The new spirit seeks, and will have, a certain balance between work and play, between effort and recreation, between the joy of doing and the joy of being. Gone forever is the dictum of industry untempered with relaxation.

Besides the modern attitude, many things have contributed to the discounting of many Carlyle advocations. He stood out in his era as an Atheist, a Pantheist, a Deist—all depending upon the views of his critic in regard to the nature of his writing. Some discounted this critical tendency of placing Carlyle in any of these mentioned categories, and saw in him a herald, a prophet of a new order.

But the world has moved so far and so swiftly since the Victorian days of Carlyle that the prophet is utterly discounted, and with the mantle dropped we can examine the man more clearly and more analytically. His vision is replaced by his gospel as a means of considering him; his humor, realism and the poetry of his thought, when distinguished from his fierce prose, serve to acquaint us with a distinct personality, rather than with a prophet of a new life.

In 1881 when Carlyle died, the press was filled with many sincere tributes. Among others, it was said that "before the glare of his 'French Revolution' all epics, ancient and modern, grow pale and shadowy—his like is not left in the world."

In contrast to this flattering tribute there are modern estimations: "Carlyle can be valued by posterity for his influence on life, in no manner can he be hailed for his supremacy as an artist."

While you cannot kill any man with an epigram, the fact remains that the tendency of modern thought is to let Carlyle down from his august perch of sixty years ago. Doubtless he is a brilliant thinker in some respects, but by no means the great one that he was considered by the sheer force and gusto of his sober and stubborn views.

Brothers Committee Appointed To Improve Religion Courses

Definite plans were formulated for the revision of the present religion courses conducted in the various Christian Brothers high schools at the annual convention of the Order held on the campus after the Christmas holidays. A committee will be appointed soon to make a study of the present courses and to make suggestions for improvement.

The program for the convention was held on Monday, December 28, and was under the personal direction of Brother Alfred of the College faculty. It featured talks by Brothers teaching religion in the high schools, musical selections by the Brothers' quartet, and a dramatic skit, the trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice." Brother Henry directed the dramatic presentation.

The complete program presented is as follows:

Pale Moon ..... Frederick K. Logan
Swing Low, Sweet Chariot....Huntley Quartet
Aims of Teaching Religion in High School .....Brother Maurice
Discussion: Religion as a Motive of Conduct..... Brother Augustine
Winter Song.....Frederic F. Bullard
Friendship .....W. E. Haesche Quartet
The Teacher of Religion Brother L. Edward
Discussion: Teaching the Teacher Brother Francis
Discussion: The Teacher's Religious Library ..... Brother Alvan
Trial scene from Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" (produced under direction of Brother Henry Methods of Teaching Religion in High School ..... Brother Pius
Discussion: Is Experience the best Teacher? ..... Brother Anselm
Discussion: Teaching by Catholic Action ..... Brother Xavier
Remarks by Brother Gregory, Visitor
Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.
Music by the Scholastics' Choir under the direction of Father Ribeyron.

New Faculty Changes Open Spring Term

The expansion of the work of the Brothers here on the Pacific Coast has caused the appointment of Brother Lewis, instructor of mathematics here last semester, as assistant to Brother Gregory, Provincial of the Brothers.

Brother Lewis will spend most of his time traveling between the different schools here on the coast, and assisting Brother Gregory in his supervising work.

Mr. Mayhoffer, formerly of Colorado, has been added to the list of instructors for the present semester. He will conduct courses in Economics 176 and History 120.

Art Society to Hear Lecture on Missions

Inaugurating the first of a series of illustrated lectures on subjects relating to art, the Saint Mary's Art Society will begin its program for the semester with an informal talk on "The California Missions: Their Artistry and Architecture," to be given by Charles Shields, vice-president of the organization, at a meeting to be held next Wednesday noon in the art room.

The speaker will briefly outline the main characteristics of the old Spanish missions, and then give a detailed description of one of the structures, illustrating his talk with pictures and paintings.

At the Wednesday meeting new and old members are cordially invited to be present.

Strictly Personal

Virgil Scatena, varsity football manager, has taken a leave of absence for the coming semester. Virg said goodbye to many of his friends at a New Year's party at his home in Sausalito. Harry Ebding, 1930 varsity co-captain, returned from professional football circles in the East in time to attend.

Father Bowling did a lot of preaching at Saint Mary's Paulist Church in San Francisco during the holidays, being heard over the radio several times. He also celebrated midnight Mass in the College Chapel Christmas eve.

If baseball prospects were bright enough originally, they are more luminous today with the return of Bill Smaker, hard-hitting catcher, after a semester's absence.

Frank M. Dwyer, well known benefactor of the College, and donor of the Dwyer football award, is the father of a baby girl, born during the holidays. Frank has named her after the College—Mary.

Stan Barr lost many pounds shoveling snow off Siskiyou railroad tracks during the last two weeks. Stan claims that city residents don't know what a storm really means. Residents of his own town were without electricity for two weeks, as a result of Christmas gales.

Dick Ryan, another mountain lad, is back again after a semester in the wilds of Oregon.

Members of the basketball team claim that it takes a barnstorming trip such as they took this vacation to drive home the cosmopolitanism of the Saint Mary's student body. At every town visited—Chico, Stockton, Marysville, Sacramento, Napa, Vallejo—large rooting sections of students were on hand.

That defeat by the Olympic Club was no fluke—we were playing supermen. Witness the case of Ralph Bates, Olympic player chosen as all-opponent guard by the Gaels. Bates fell from a four-story window in the city last week and suffered only a slight cut on the head.

The Art D'Arco who greeted friends in the Recorder's Office was a mere sliver of his former self. Art lost fifteen scarce pounds as a rseult of an operation undergone several weeks ago.

"Red" Sheflin got a head start on the wolf by working at the Hibernia Bank during the Christmas recess. Bill Fischer also entered the employ of the bank last month.

Rumor about the campus has it that Phil (Dutch) Baader has terminated the life of singularity.

Residents of the Sophomore Hall returned to their lair to find the combination of "McGinnis and McSheehy" severed. The Recorder's Office states that Bob McSheehy embarked to the Stanford campus to pursue law courses.

Jim Brennan '33, revealed his engagement during the recess to Miss Carmen Duensing of San Francisco.

"Snowball" Moss proved the town hero at Cloverdale Christmas eve when he extinguished, single-handed, a dangerous fire at the midnight Mass.

Celebrating the conclusion of exes last semester, the Nimrod Rob of 2nd floor Center Door made several hunting, fishing and crabbing expeditions in the surrounding countryside. Hec Liati, Jim McNally, Barney Squires and Elmo Martini were those enjoying the most success.

Seniors have seen many queer sights in the parts in the last four years, but none so queer as that of the last day of school in December when a scouting party from Freshman Hall set out to lasso a flock of turkeys. They had little luck until Gordon Partee came out and demonstrated the easiest method of getting a gobbler by a perfectly executed flying tackle.

Stratford Players Give Varied Bills

Students of the Drama will have a rare opportunity when the Stratford-on-Avon players present a Shakesperean repertoire in San Francisco next week. Included in a program of staple Shakespereana, are two plays of the bard that are distinctly interesting as phases of his dramatic career.

"Measure for Measure," is one, interesting in that it marks a transition in Shakespeare's career. It is the last of his comedies, for with it ended the optimism and humorous sense that has given us his clever comedies, and the beginning of his gloomy years, that saw him rise to tremendous heights as a tragedy playwrite.

"Winter's Tale," not often seen, but one of the most delightful of Shakespeare's comedies, is also presented. The opportunity to see extremely capable actors present these two comparatively rare plays should attract many discriminating auditors.

Richard Bennett opens in San Francisco on January 25 in an adaptation of Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac."

This splendid character actor should present a captial performance, with his skill, a suitable vehicle, and the admirable adaptation and direction of William Keighley. The fact that Walter Hampden will be seen in the same play in San Francisco in May should not detract from attendance of Bennett's performances, but should rather stimulate attendance for comparison alone. Not only is there an opportunity to compare two excellent translations of the clever story of the poet-soldier, but the respective merits of two of the finest American actors can be judged very clearly by their interpretations of the same role.

NEW BOOKS

Annual Dinner Given By Alumni at Eureka

On Sunday, December 27, at the Eureka Inn in the city of Eureka the annual dinner of the Saint Mary's group of Humboldt and Del Norte counties was held. Attending the dinner were alumni, students and friends of the College.

Perhaps one of the most noteworthy observations of the dinner was the fact that it was the first dinner in which Eureka unit of the alumni and the Humboldt-Del Norte unit of the Saint Mary's students, co-operated in sponsoring. It is felt that during the Christmas holidays it would be most desirable that alumni units welcome the present students in the community

Officers of the Eureka unit of the alumni elected at the dinner were: George Bertain '23, president, and Joseph Russ Jr. '31, secretary-treasurer.

LINES FROM A DIPLOMAT

A Saint Mary's Man Abroad in Our Own Country

LEONARD A. THOMAS

Washington to Richmond, Va.: traveling through some of the most interesting of Civil War territory. A short distance out of Washington is the field of Manassas, where Bull Run was fought. Today the little bridge that spans the stream is surmounted by a monument. On this bridge the society women of Washington stood when they went out to see a Union victory, and it was from this bridge that several of them fell and were drowned when the South charged.

Crossing the famous Blue Ridge mountains one enters the Shenandoah valley, the scene of many of Stonewall Jackson's most exciting edventures. The roadside is dotted with monuments and headstones commemorating a victory here, a defeat and a death there, but always reminding us of that bloody fratricidal strife that bled our country of its best in young manhood.

In Lexington, Va., is the famous Washington and Lee University. Robert E. Lee was president of this institution after the war, and today his remains lie in the little chapel on the campus. The skeleton of his war horse Traveler is preserved in a museum on the campus. The school is a fine example of southern architecture with its red brick buildings and huge white columns which date from the colonial period. Surmounting the main building is a statue of George Washington, carved in wood by a local wood carver, which has stood for 107 years. Each year the frosh paint this statue with their class color and then the seniors paint it white. This annual coat of paint is all that has preserved this interesting figure.

As one crosses the campus of Washington and Lee he is greeted by the friendly salute of "Hello, Gentlemen." For every southerner prides himself on his liquor, his horses, his women, and his being a gentleman.

A short distance from Washington and Lee is Virginia Military Institute, the "West Point of the South." Stonewall Jackson was a professor here before the Civil War and nearby in the village cemetery he lies beneath a huge monument. Truly this section revels in the traditions of the "Stars and Bars"; nine out of ten pictures in these homes are of Robert E. Lee or Stonewall Jackson. The northerners are still Yanks, and when one of their students was asked how things were going, he replied, "Lee should never have surrendered." When a so-called Yank boasts of his ancestors coming over in the Mayflower, the classical remark of the southern gentleman is, "Humph! Immigrants!"

Dixieland is a wonderful place and one cannot help catching the spirit of its romance and tradition. Yours truly came home with a Confederate flag and humming, "Oh I wish I were in the land of cotton."

—The Senator.

Senior Sketches

By John Friedman '32

The class of '32 as sophomores were playing the senior class of '30 a hard fought game of interclass football. The seniors, although they had the superior team in all physical respects, seemed unable really to accomplish a great deal. Time after time their backs would lunge at the opposing line only to be dragged down, and time after time the same chunky, black haired opponent would be the cause of the failure to gain. He plainly showed the effects of his efforts but would not leave the game ,answering with a cheery smile whenever asked if he was all right. After the game ended his teammates found he had been out of his head for a great part of the game but his inherent determination to win carried him on. The above and many similar incidents have shown the determination and ability of Albert Cattalini to finish any task he undertakes.

Golf Adept

"Cat" has not participated in any other College activity. Unfortunately the College has never sponsored the sport in which he is an adept—golf. As a golfer Al has very few equals in the College. Every year he has attempted to organize a team but due to the lack of facilities has failed each time. However, he has plans this year to continue his efforts along that line. If we know Al, Saint Mary's will have a golf team if there is any possible chance.

Al was born in San Francisco, where he now resides. When he was only three years old he had the misfortune to lose his mother. He was placed in St. Joseph's Academy, from which he was forced to move several months later by a fire which destroyed the institution. Five years of his early childhood were spent under the guidance of the Brothers at St. Vincent's School, San Rafael. Undoubtedly that influenced his choice of Saint Mary's for his college education.

Shipping Enthusiast

In harmony with his post-collegiate plans, Al is writing his thesis on "Intercoastal Shipping under Government Regulation." On graduation he intends to work in the shipping business with a San Francisco firm.

THE SEASON FOR ACTION

The spring of the year is always symbolic of a reawakening on the part of nature after a long period of hibernation, and similarly the opening of the spring semester should be indicative of a reawakening on the part of the many clubs (there are many listed in the catalogue) which have had more than their share of hibernation.

With the appointment of faculty moderators to supervise the clubs' programs it is evident that the administration is doing its part to foster and encourage extra-curricular activities. All that is needed now is the combined cooperation of the club officers and the members.

The spring semester is always the best season to start definite plans for club activities. King Football has finished his reign for another year, and the spring sports will not tend to detract from other events. Too much football was the reason given by many students for their lack of interest in club activities, but now that the season has closed, no longer will this hold as a valid excuse for unwarranted apathy.

To the presidents of the various campus societies we would say that upon you rests the responsibility for fostering and encouraging those things which will offer to the student the best which college has to offer. To fail in this endeavor means to fail in assuming the responsibilities of your office. Among your resolutions for the new year should be one which is a firm resolve to stir your organization from its period of lethargy. Now is the season for action!

BREAKS FOR BOARDERS

"Give college sports back to the college students" has been the war cry of the underemphasizers, and evidently the Saint Mary's Board of Athletic Control has constructed its basketball schedule accordingly. At the cost of serious financial loss the Board has transferred many of its major games from Kezar Pavilion to Madigan Gymnasium, and is offering to boarders without the expense of transportation such stellar contests as those with U. S. F., Y. M. I., Olympic Club, Y. W. C. A., Rossi Florists, and San Francisco State Teachers.

The new policy, while it may entail some pecuniary sacrifice, is on the whole a wise one. Basketball has not prospered in the past largely because the students considered it unimportant, and the increase in campus games has even at this early date done wonders in making the college basketball-minded. Then there is the obvious advantage which rests with a team playing on its regular practice court, and the "break" which is given to the many fans of surrounding Contra Costa towns.

Incidentally the sympathy which used to be wasted on "unmotorized boarders" in the past is certainly out of place this year. What with games, debates, rallies, recitals and lectures, boarders are supplied with ample entertainment without having to stir foot off the campus.

LET THE FRESHMAN IN

We may pride ourselves as much as we wish on the Saint Mary's spirit of fellowship but the fact remains that a strange freshman has a hard row to hoe on this campus before he becomes one of the gang. The condition which allows a new student to go through the mechanics of registering and going to class without having the slightest personal interest shown in him is a bad one and one which has caused considerable unfavorable comment.

Saint Mary's is one of the few colleges which has no system of Senior Adviser, Big Brother, Service Club, or some such institution. This was excusable in the pioneer days of three or four years ago, but should not exist in the present well-organized state of the College. Campus clubs which exist chiefly in the catalog and the year book might well take upon themselves the job of seeing that new students learn the ropes.

It is not an easy thing for a complacent upper-classman to deliberately attempt to make friends with a green and bewildered frosh, but of such is the kingdom of heaven. We have pointed to the absence of cliques as one reason for our past successes; we must beware lest this happy state die or become a mere negative condition with the rapid growth of the College. Positive effort to foster a positive well-knit friendliness is needed.

The height of something or other is Saint Mary's organizing a Poetry Society, only to contribute to it fewer numbers than any other of the member colleges.

---

"Just a Senior's" protest at lack of training table for basketball is well founded. There should be no favoritism shown among sports which are recognized as "major."

JUSTICE AND PROGRESS

That Saint Mary's welcomes scholastic progress is a platitude; that it has progressed steadily is a certainty; that the Recorder's Office is largely responsible for it is evident. Nevertheless even progress can be so rapid and jerky that an observer has hardly a permanent standard from which to measure the advance. This seems to be a danger which is threatening the Recorder's Office.

Changes in requirements and regulations have occurred practically every semester in the past four years. The senior, comparing methods of registration and rules in effect when he was a freshman with those of the present, will find himself amazed. That the changes are good in themselves is undeniable. But they can be not so desirable when taken in the aggregate and when considered in the light of external affecting influences.

The chief of these outside criterions is that changes made in the regulations of, say, a senior's scholastic platform are hardly fair unless he has known of them from the beginning. It was, for instance, utterly unfair to change from the former system of marking to the grade point system, because the new plan was begun with a freshman class which knew that it would be bound by this system for four years. But it is hardly just to prevent a man's graduation by limiting the number of units he can take when in his earlier years he was allowed to expect that a higher number would be allowed; nor does it seem quite right to tell an honor student in his last semester that he must carry a minimum number of units when throughout his college career he had worked with the prospect of carrying in his last term a lighter load, at the time perfectly legitimate; or when he had gone to summer session with the sole intention of easing his program and thus being enabled to concentrate more fully on a thesis.

Students today are encouraged to make their education more of a unit, to avoid scrappiness. Yet under present conditions a man who plans his entire course in his freshman or sophomore year is apt to find regulations considerably altered when he becomes a junior or senior. The integrating process is rendered difficult or useless.

It is a wise step to model requirements on those of other universities which are recognized educational leaders; it is also the part of prudence to realize sensibly differences and limitations.

While we don't agree with the complaint of the Stanford Daily against the efficiency of regular Association basketball referees, we advise the country towns who wish to continue attracting college teams that they secure competent officials. The handling of Wednesday night's game at Petaluma was a case of one injustice after another, with even the manager and players of the opposing team agreeing with the complaints of the Saint Mary's players.

CAMPUS COMMENT

Campus Comment is an expression of student opinion. All the communications (for the protection of the editor and The Collegian) must bear the signature of the writer, although if requested, the letter will be published with the initials only. In general, all communications will be printed, reserving to the editor the right to suppress any comment which, in his opinion, is detrimental to the best interests of Saint Mary's College and the Associated Students of that institution. Communications should be placed in the special box in the Students Book Store, or mailed directly to the editor.

Editor The Collegian.

Dear Sir: While strolling about the campus the other day, I happened to direct my sight-seeing tour toward the one time "ole swimming hole." Of course I realized that this was not the proper season for one to take the poverbial dip, but nevertheless, even if one had the urge, I feel certain that the sight of the swimming tank, together with the odoriferous smell emanating from same, would certainly curb any instinctive tendency on the part of ye writer.

Since the close of the swimming season, "ye ole swimming hole" has not as yet received any form of cleaning. The scum and refuse which has gathered in the tank is certainly not beneficial to one's health nor is it becoming to the pleasant surroundings about the gymnasium.

Now that the heavy rains are upon us, or have been, do you not think it adsivable to drain the tank, give it a good scouring, and let old Jupiter Pluvius contribute his share to the finishing touches with good old aqua pura? Let us see some action in this matter before the tank becomes so cluttered with refuse and so insanitary that its condition will prove hygienically unhealthy for the future participants in the old game of water polo.

To Whom it May Concern:

Often times we see many comments in these campuses of ours but very seldom do they amount to a great deal. Nevertheless, someone said, if we do not succeed, try and try again.

It has been whispered about this College of ours that transitional lectures which in the past have been given in the spring semester are going to be done away with. Really, this is a horrid whisper because I have it from very good authority that these lectures were very interesting and inspiring to the seniors entering the cruel, hard business world. In these times of depression it would be a small consolation to have someone tell us what we might hope for and find in those bread lines in the Orphan Annie Kitchens.

Another thing that should be given a lot of attention and written in good plain English is: Why hasn't the basketball team got a training table? Don't they carry the name of Saint Mary's College? Aren't they worthy of getting food of a different type so that they might be able to carry on to far greater things than they have done in the past? The College, I believe, is well able to support a training table for the basketball team. If basketball is to be played in the name of Saint Mary's, why doesn't the College see that they get the best advantage to bring home a string of victories that is worthy of the name given to the school by the football teams. Some attention, please.

OTHER COLLEGES

By HARRY WHITEHEAD

More Like Frankenstein

McMaster University, Canada.—A movement was started recently here in opposition to a ruling which required the wearing of gowns to classes by the professors. The co-eds boycotted the idea with this little ditty:

I think that I shall never know
A thing that looks more like a crow,
A crow which 'neath its plumage pressed
Is like a peacock brightly dressed,
A thing that looks more every day
Like middling beauty cast away.

A woman should in classes wear
A host of garlands in her hair,
Traditions from the dour dead Scot
Would ultimately give the though
A woman's clothes are her renown,
But only Profs can wear a gown.

Hygienically Sound

Washington University—A recent checkup on soap and towels at the University of Washington revealed that the students of that institution use some 500 gallons of liquid soap and 2,250,000 paper towels.

What! No Chapel Bells?

New Jersey College—The New Jersey College for Women is now among the vanguard of those colleges which have abolished compulsory chapel attendance.

Full of Static

Berlin University—Once a month the Berlin broadcasting station organizes a series of discussions by students, which are led by professors from the University of Berlin of different political opinion. The representatives of the different groups are asked to come and discuss frankly all political topics chosen beforehand by students and professors. The idea of confronting in discussion two students of opposite political opinion has proved excellent, achieving a very clear and logical development of the two standpoints. The professor leading the discussion takes part in it only to the extent of saying some impartial words of introduction and conclusion, and of keeping it on the original subject.

'Uh-huh! The Cause of It All

Columbia University—A lowering of economic standards in the teaching profession has been caused by "overfeminization and a lack of adequate publicity in the school system," Dr. Willard S. Elsbree, associate professor of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, said in a survey on teachers' salaries, released by the Columbia bureau of publications.

Paying Tribute

Princeton University—This fall, Princeton will dedicate a new scientific building erected in memory of Dean Henry Burchard Fine, former Princeton mathematician. One of the features of the structure is the mathematical equations and geometric figures which will appear in the stained glass windows.

The "Secret Six"

Northwestern University—Collegiate cooperation with Chicago officials in combating the underworld is being discussed on the Northwestern University campus following the initiation of a large number of students and faculty members into the secrets of the "Secret Six." The "Secret Six," already famous in the annals of journalism and in the cinema world, was formed only a year ago by industrial leaders of Chicago, to curb the workings of that city's gangland, and for the procuring of data that has brought many a gang chieftain, including Al Capone, into the federal courts for their racketeering practices.

From Our Files

1912-1913—Bobby Vlught, captain of Saint Mary's track team, won the Bulletin Eight-Mile Cross City Race in San Francisco two years in a row.

1913—Journalism courses were introduced for the first time with the opening of the spring smester.

Brother Leo was instructor and enrollment was restricted to the upper division.

1914—Louis Guisto, rugby captain, chosen All-American.

1915—The Big M Society was founded with Val Fleming first president and Boy Moy secretary.

1918—Sixteen members of the Collegian staff enlisted for the war.

1929—Father Turco, head of the department of ancient languages, returned to his post after several years spent in Europe.

1930—Stained glass windows arrive from Germany and are installed in Chapel.

1931—Alumni Association lecture series opens in San Francisco and Oakland. Grade statistics for the fall semester show freshmen class leading the field for first time in College history. New rules concerning thesis writing by degree candidates were announced and published by the Chancellor's Council.

OUTLOOKS AND INSIGHTS

By BROTHER LEO

From "Antioch Notes," published at Antioch College, Ohio, we cull the following paragraph:

"For most men schooling is best. It disciplines, informs, and organizes the mind; gives it possession of accumulated culture; and allows free play to some elements of individuality. As a rule little is lost by this process, for most men have but limited creative capacity and serve better as carriers of culture than as creators of it."

Few men can do real work in the world today without college training; even highly individualized characters can benefit by it immeasurably. If we have something big in us it will be all the bigger because of college training and college associations.

The unpardonable sin is to destroy or stultify the educational work of the college. It is a sin committed on the campus as well as off it, a sin which sometimes draws as accessories men who ought to know better. Colleges will be better and graduates will be better when we all recognize the importance of keeping first things first.

THOSE SEDENTARY PASSIONS

Mr. Sidney Dark, in his recent book on Robert Louis Stevenson, asserts that the author of "Treasure Island" and "The Master of Ballantrae" had "a sedentary passion for adventure." He means that Stevenson, living in reasonable comfort and well taken care of by the most devoted of wives, faced perils, braved dangers, endured hardships—in his mind.

Rather maliciously, it is said in London, that the famous Travellers' Club is composed of just such armchair adventurers. But not only in the realms of adventure do sedentary passions glow. Unless we are hypocrites we indulge those sedentary passions whenever we praise what we fail to practice.

There are plenty of people around the College with sedentary passions for intellectual interests. They will tell you that those interests should hold first place; but those interests never hold first place for them. Such devotees of learning and culture are not "on their toes"; they take their education sitting down.

Sedentary passions have never been dynamic forces in history. I doubt if they are tonic for the individual soul. When the Master cursed the barren fig tree He may have had sedentary passions in mind.
